EARTH INTERWOVEN

SHARED COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

We believe the strength of a community, like a woven basket, comes from its connections. Its relationships. Between people, across generations, and with the earth itself.

Like before, we will continue to partner with rural communities in Haiti and Uganda to strengthen and restore these relationships. Applying our inclusive, participatory process with local partners, ancestral wisdom and sustainable solutions emerge. Together, we are the weavers.

Whether building homes from sustainable earth block, restoring food sovereignty through agroecology, or rekindling ancestral practices, the process is one of resilience woven in place. Our work helps communities reimagine their futures with strength and dignity—woven from within.

Together we reweave what has been unraveled.
Together, we are Earth Interwoven.
